Item

Globalisation has had a significant impact on the education system in the UK. The developments in technology have created now opportunities for learning, including the internet and the ability to take part in international trips. Some sociologists suggest that these impacts have had a positive influence on the education system by creating more globally minded students and a greater respect and tolerance for differences. However others, such as the Marxists believe that these improvements are only for the wealthy and have in fact created a wider gap between the middle and working class achievement.

Applying material from the item and your own knowledge, evaluate sociological explanations for the impact of globalisation on education. [30]
